There are four big cats in nature: tigers, lions, jaguars and leopards. They are the only animals that can roar. Tigers are the largest, but most people believe that lions are the kings of jungles. Male lions have a mane, but female lions don't. Some male lions weigh 250 kg (550 lb). Lions live in Africa and Asia. Free lions live for ten to fourteen years, but in zoos they can live longer than twenty years. In the wild, males seldom live longer than ten years. Lions are very social animals. Groups of female lions usually hunt together. They usually hunt hoofed animals such as zebras and deer. Lions spend much of their time resting. Lions usually hunt at night. They usually spend two hours a day walking and 50 minutes eating.

Are the following sentences True or False?

	Lions are bigger than tigers
	Tigers cannot roar.
	Only male lions have a mane.
